Operating Results

"Overall, our fourth quarter results were lower than we anticipated as we navigated through another surge of COVID-19, and our efforts to fully mitigate these headwinds fell short of our expectations," said Daniel Walker, Pennant's Chief Executive Officer. "However, despite the headwinds faced throughout 2021, we produced record full year results in our home health and hospice segment, achieving double digit top and bottom line growth and quality clinical outcomes, while adding 11 agencies to our portfolio. Our senior living segment weathered three waves of COVID-19 surges in 2021 and is poised for a stronger 2022 with deeper leadership throughout the segment, stronger clusters and markets, better data and systems and indications of an improving operating environment. In the fourth quarter and since, we executed on the key initiatives we shared last quarter: we continue to focus our efforts on the most important opportunities in both segments, reinforce the core principles of our operating model, and ensure every team is operating at a high level without distractions. After a careful review of our portfolio, we've executed a one-time strategic repositioning of our senior living portfolio with our Ensign partners, representing an extension of the ongoing benefits of the Ensign Pennant Care Continuum to our organizations and to our patients, residents and employees; we've restructured our mobile physician services and home care ventures to better contain expenses while largely retaining the upside of each; and we're consolidating our field and service center resources around key opportunities in our core businesses. The track record of strong results in our home health and hospice segment and the momentum building in our senior living segment give us confidence in our ability to achieve better financial, clinical and cultural results in 2022."

Brent Guerisoli, Pennant's President, commented, "We are pleased with the strong clinical and financial results of our home health and hospice business in the fourth quarter. For the full year 2021, segment revenue grew 22.0% over 2020 to $309.6 million, and segment adjusted EBITDA grew 10.9% over 2020 to $51.0 million. In the fourth quarter, our home health agencies grew total admissions 0.8% over the third quarter 2021 and 9.0% over the prior year quarter, despite ongoing elevated levels of quarantined staff as a result of the Omicron variant of COVID-19. Our clinical quality scores continue to shine and are evidence that our relentless focus on providing life-changing patient care is yielding strong results across many quality measures. On the hospice side, our results were impacted by a decline in our average daily census, largely the result of slightly fewer admissions as well as a higher mix of referrals from more acute settings that tend to have a lower average length of stay. This softness was somewhat attributable to the effects of higher COVID-19 cases in the quarter, which continued into the first quarter. However, as we focus on meeting the needs of our local healthcare communities, we are strengthening relationships with new and existing key partners, which we are confident will accelerate our ability to grow census and produce stronger results as operating conditions continue to improve."

"Our senior living segment continues its recovery, having experienced another surge of COVID-19 cases that impacted our staffing and census in the quarter as it has throughout 2021," said Mr. Guerisoli. "While the effects of this most recent wave will spill-over into the first quarter, in the fourth quarter and since we made significant progress in building a stronger leadership foundation, developing market and cluster leaders, expanding our marketing and sales expertise by elevating and recruiting talented professionals and equipping them with better data analytics and tools, and driving rigorous accountability around the key focus areas that will accelerate our ongoing turnaround in the segment. In the fourth quarter, these efforts contributed to segment revenue growth of $0.5 million, or 1.4%, over the prior year quarter, despite occupancy declining by 310 basis points during the same period. We achieved a 3.9% increase in our average revenue per occupied room as a result of modest rent and care rate increases rolled out in the fourth quarter. As we look at the opportunities we have in 2022 and beyond, there is significant potential to drive further revenue growth across our portfolio on the back of both occupancy and rate improvements, and so far in the first quarter we are seeing occupancy grow sequentially as our local leaders continue to win the trust of new residents and their families. At the same time, with developing leadership teams, better data and systems, and accountability around our core opportunities, we know we can drive improved segment earnings if we execute with operational excellence.”

Following year-end, the Company announced a series of strategic transactions to reposition its senior living segment for stronger results. The Company agreed to transfer the operations of five campus-based senior living communities to affiliates of The Ensign Group, Inc., which transaction is expected to close in March and April of 2021. In addition, the Company entered into a letter of intent to operate a high-quality senior living asset in a key market, which is expected to close in the second quarter of 2022. “The combination of these strategic transactions immediately sets our senior living business on a path to achieve better results in 2022 while establishing an avenue for future expansion as we continue to build a strong operational foundation. The five communities we are transferring to Ensign affiliates share a campus setting with skilled nursing facilities operated by Ensign subsidiaries. This one-time reconstitution is the result of an ongoing strategic review of the senior living operations we maintained when we spun from Ensign and represents just one instance of the many benefits the Ensign Pennant Care Continuum brings our organization, in addition to benefits it provides our patients through improved care coordination, staffing and quality outcomes. This win-win transaction benefits both organizations and, most importantly, should benefit the residents and caregivers as each campus and the dynamic services provided therein are brought together under a single operation. Our retooled portfolio allows our growing senior living talent to concentrate our resources on a tighter portfolio of predominantly stand-alone communities in core markets and immediately improves our segment earnings,” said Derek Bunker, Pennant’s Chief Investment Officer.

“As we comprehensively assessed our portfolio to limit distractions and focus on our core opportunities, we also integrated our mobile physician services teams into our home health agencies to provide physician services to our healthcare partners at significantly reduced costs, and we restructured several of our home care agencies to narrow our focus while maintaining upside. These actions and many others aimed at leveraging our efforts around the most important opportunities position both segments with more strength and focus going into 2022,” continued Mr. Bunker. “At the same time, our pipeline of potential home health and hospice acquisitions is expanding. We continue to find exciting opportunities to add quality home health and hospice agencies to the Pennant family and look forward to reporting more activity on this front as the year progresses. Our recently acquired agencies are developing strength as they continue maturing within our portfolio and, while there is still significant opportunity in these operations for organic growth for many years to come, we are excited to invest in additional agencies throughout this year.”

Jennifer Freeman, Pennant’s Chief Financial Officer, reported that the Company ended the fourth quarter with strong liquidity, noting $5.2 million of cash on hand and $92.3 million of availability on its revolving line of credit. Ms. Freeman reported that the Company had a net debt-to-adjusted EBITDA ratio of 1.75x and a lease-adjusted net debt-to-adjusted EBITDAR ratio of 5.58x as of December 31, 2021. “Our cash position and liquidity remain strong despite the challenges of the full year and fourth quarter. As the recoupment of the Medicare advance payments winds down over the next several months, we look forward to improved cash flow and deploying our dry powder toward further growth across the organization,” said Ms. Freeman. Noting that the Company is now subject to Sarbanes-Oxley compliance, Ms. Freeman added, “I am grateful for the thoroughness, tireless effort and conscientiousness of our finance and accounting team to work together with leaders throughout our organization to establish and maintain required internal controls at a high level, all while they provide support to and accelerate the results of our partners in the field.”

A discussion of the company’s use of non-GAAP financial measures is set forth below. A reconciliation of net income to EBITDA, adjusted EBITDAR and adjusted EBITDA, as well as a reconciliation of GAAP earnings per share, net income to adjusted net earnings per share and adjusted net income, appear in the financial data portion of this release. More complete information is contained in the company’s Annual Report on Form 10-K for the twelve months ended December 31, 2021, which has been filed with the SEC today and can be viewed on the company’s website at www.pennantgroup.com.

2022 Guidance

As a result of the impact of the recently announced strategic senior living transactions and with better insight into the operating landscape following the fourth quarter 2021, the Company provided revised fiscal year 2022 guidance.

Total revenue is anticipated to be in the range of $450.0 million to $460.0 million, the midpoint of which represents an increase of 7.5% over our full year 2021 revenue results if it had been adjusted for the disposition of the five senior living communities. Adjusted earnings per share is anticipated to be in the range of $0.60 to $0.72 per diluted share, the midpoint of which represents an increase of 43.5% over our full year 2021 adjusted earnings per share results.

The Company's 2022 annual guidance is based on diluted weighted average shares outstanding of approximately 31.2 million and a 26.1% effective tax rate. The guidance assumes, among other things, anticipated reimbursement rate adjustments, no unannounced acquisitions, and the lingering effects of COVID-19. It excludes costs at start-up operations, share-based compensation, acquisition-related costs, assets held for sale, and losses of disposed operations.

Commenting on full year 2022 guidance, Ms. Freeman stated, "We are providing revised 2022 annual guidance based on the impact of the disposition of five senior living communities, our read of the current operating environment and considering the headwinds that arose during the fourth quarter, which we see lingering into the first quarter of 2022. While census, staffing and other operating challenges will likely persist for the foreseeable future and may continue to cause short-term chop in our first half results, we are confident leaders across our organization are stronger and more capable of confronting these headwinds than ever before. Our revised guidance reflects confidence that the measures we are taking to emphasize the core opportunities across both segments and reinforce the principles of our unique operating model will lead to improvement in our recently-acquired home health and hospice agencies, continued strength in our same store operations, and healthier performance in our senior living business. We are excited for 2022 and our return to the kind of steady growth we experienced in our history and we know is achievable by executing on our playbook."

Discussion of Non-GAAP Financial Measures

EBITDA consists of net income before (a) interest expense, net, (b) provisions for income taxes, and (c) depreciation and amortization. Adjusted EBITDA consists of net income attributable to the Company before (a) provisions for income taxes, (b) depreciation and amortization, (c) costs incurred for start-up operations, including rent and excluding depreciation, interest and income taxes, (d) share-based compensation expense, (e) non-capitalizable acquisition related costs, (f) redundant or non-recurring transition services costs, (g) incremental costs due to COVID-19 response net of 2% Medicare reimbursement increase for sequestration holiday, and (h) impairment of long-lived assets. Consolidated Adjusted EBITDAR is a valuation measure applicable to current periods only and consists of net income attributable to the Company before (a) interest expense, net, (b) provisions for income taxes, (c) depreciation and amortization, (d) rent-cost of services, (e) costs incurred for start-up operations, excluding rent, depreciation, interest and income taxes, (f) share-based compensation expense, (g) acquisition related costs, (h) redundant or non-recurring transition services costs, (i) net income attributable to noncontrolling interest, (j) net COVID-19 related costs, and (k) impairment of long-lived assets. The company believes that the presentation of EBITDA, adjusted EBITDA, consolidated adjusted EBITDAR, adjusted net income and adjusted earnings per share provides important supplemental information to management and investors to evaluate the company's operating performance. The company believes disclosure of adjusted net income, adjusted net income per share, EBITDA, adjusted EBITDA and consolidated adjusted EBITDAR has economic substance because the excluded revenues and expenses are infrequent in nature and are variable in nature, or do not represent current revenues or cash expenditures. A material limitation associated with the use of these measures as compared to the GAAP measures of net income and diluted earnings per share is that they may not be comparable with the calculation of net income and diluted earnings per share for other companies in the company's industry. These non-GAAP financial measures should not be relied upon to the exclusion of GAAP financial measures. For further information regarding why the company believes that this non-GAAP measure provides useful information to investors, the specific manner in which management uses this measure, and some of the limitations associated with the use of this measure, please refer to the company's periodic filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, including its Annual Report on Form 10-K and Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q. The company's periodic filings are available on the SEC's website at www.sec.gov or under the "Financial Information" link of the Investor Relations section on Pennant's website at <http://www.pennantgroup.com>.
